

Environmental Policy

DAS Group, which provides legal expenses insurance products, telephone helplines and insured assistance services, accepts that in undertaking its business activities it has obligations towards the environment and society as stated in the Corporate Social Responsibility Policy. In support of the principle of sustainable development, DAS Group aim to achieve environmental best practice throughout its operations wherever possible.

To achieve this aim, DAS has established and will maintain effective systems to understand and monitor the impacts the company has on the environment. This knowledge is used to set targets for continual improvement.

DAS is committed to preventing pollution, not just directly but also by taking into account the environmental impacts of resources used. The company strives to reduce the amount of resources consumed by promoting recovery, reuse and recycling in favour of disposal; and encouraging alternatives to single occupancy car travel by employees and visitors.

DAS views environmental legislation and regulations as minimum standards to work to, and looks to implement forthcoming legislation and other requirements in advance of obligation.

As well as improving the environmental performance of the company, DAS is also committed to providing guidance to employees wishing to pursue environmental best practice outside of work. DAS Group is also keen to share environmental best practice advice with other organisations.

This Environmental Policy forms part of our environmental management system which complies with BS EN ISO14001:2004. This policy is reviewed annually and following any significant changes to the business.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Paul Asplin'.

PJ Asplin

Chief Executive Officer

03/02/2006